

New! Domino Race

HS Exclusive Season after season, our customers have loved this best-selling game. So, we made it better—updated colors, added patterns, increased the number of pieces, and added a few new cool challenges. Arrange the dominoes in a serpentine pattern, up and down steps, over and under bridges—and end with a bang. Tip the first domino (or run the wooden ball down the ramp) to start a chain reaction (the domino effect) that brings the whole array down in seconds! The Domino Race Set includes 300 pieces (including pyramid steps and ladders) and a drawstring cloth bag. The Add-On Set (29 pieces) brings more action to the race with a pyramid step set, tunnel set, ramp, stairs/bridge set and a ball. This game keeps children ages 4 to 12 involved for hours; teens and adults will want to join in, too.

Rockin' Robots Balance Game

HS Exclusive The 20 robots in this game all want very much to get back on board their spaceship—but it's a little tippy, and they need your help. Roll the die, match its color to one of the 20 wacky wooden robots, and carefully place that robot on the spaceship. A fun, engrossing way to promote eye/hand coordination, patience, and logic for ages 4 and up.

New! Giant Domino Race

HS Exclusive A great way for younger children to learn (and love) dominoes, these great-big, satisfying-to-grasp blocks of color (2" x 3½" x ¾") make setting up a snap. The set's smoothly sanded, brightly painted wooden pieces (20 dominoes, 4 round columns, Start and Finish blocks) can be combined to create simple-but-spectacular-looking rally courses that excite on a large scale when they go tumbling down. For ages 3 and up.

New! Kaleidocubes

HS Exclusive Use art and ingenuity to solve this dazzling puzzle! By "solve" we mean arrange the 16 cubes that have bright, beautiful pieces of possible designs on all sides into a smashing, 6¼"-square design. The cubes come with six complete designs to copy, but there are many more to invent. What's totally fun is to make two designs simultaneously, on top and bottom. Wow! For ages 5 and up.

One Talented Toymaker

Who came up with all these fun, colorful, incredibly creative toys? Meet Susan McKinley Ross, who says she's never gotten over her childhood fascination with toys. Kids make an instant connection with the bold, bright colors, great-to-hold wooden blocks, and cognitive challenges that distinguish her toys. Her dedication to her craft has won her toys several prestigious awards (including a Parents' Choice® Gold Award and a Mensa Select Award) as well as our admiration and appreciation. All of the toys on these two pages are Susan's designs—and we are happy to add that many are featured exclusively by HearthSong.

Montana Stacking Puzzle

HS Exclusive What goes up? Invent limitless structures and countless cascades of color by coaxing a variety of pieces into various vertical arrays—or lay them flat on the floor (or a table) in infinite fascinating patterns. This fun assortment of 26 wooden geometric shapes is cast in a rainbow of colors especially to inspire hours of creative fun. For ages 4 and up.

New! Qwirkle

If you like Scrabble® and adore dominoes, you'll love Qwirkle, a game of strategy based on color and shape rather than letters, so both readers and non-readers can play. Winner of both Parents' Choice® and Mensa awards, it's a game that makes you think, laugh, and applaud. Draw six of the 108 wooden tiles to start, and see how many matches you can make with the designs on the board—the result can be beautiful. For 2–4 players, ages 6 and up.
